

New Business Intake Solution

Client Selection and Conflicts Management Platform

Overview

The New Business Intake Solution (NBIS) from Hinshaw & Culbertson LLP and Project Leadership Associates (PLA) is a “made-to-order” system, which combines state-of-the-art information gathering, customized to each firm’s special circumstances and needs, with a workflow process that enables you to make “real time” new business decisions (encompassing new clients and new matters for existing clients).

The NBIS enables you to: make timely and improved judgments; better protect your firm from both ethical and business conflicts as well as client suitability issues; align each intake with your firm’s strategy; and reduce the time it takes to open matters.

“Going it alone” to automate new business intake procedures involves a huge investment in time, effort and money. By starting with a time-tested and proven solution, built on top of established technologies, you can reduce the drain on your intellectual capital, and internal firm resources, and get to a working new business intake/conflicts prototype at a fraction of the time and cost.

All firms have a distinct culture and a varying degree of tolerance for risk. Our NBIS is easily tailored to your needs and includes a personalized risk review by an industry recognized leader recently named one of the “Best Lawyers in America®” in the area of Ethics and Professional Responsibility Law. Hinshaw has teamed with PLA, the leading and largest business and technology consulting provider focused on US-based law firms, to deliver this outstanding client selection and conflict management platform.

“What are other firms doing...?”

We hear this question repeatedly from our clients. Our extensive experience designing and developing intake systems for medium to large sized firms has given us the perspective to advise firm leadership on new client and matter intake and conflicts risk management. We can help you create a client and matter intake management platform customized to your firm’s particular needs. Starting with an “out-of-the-box” solution based on experience gleaned from working with many firms, we will customize the platform for your firm.

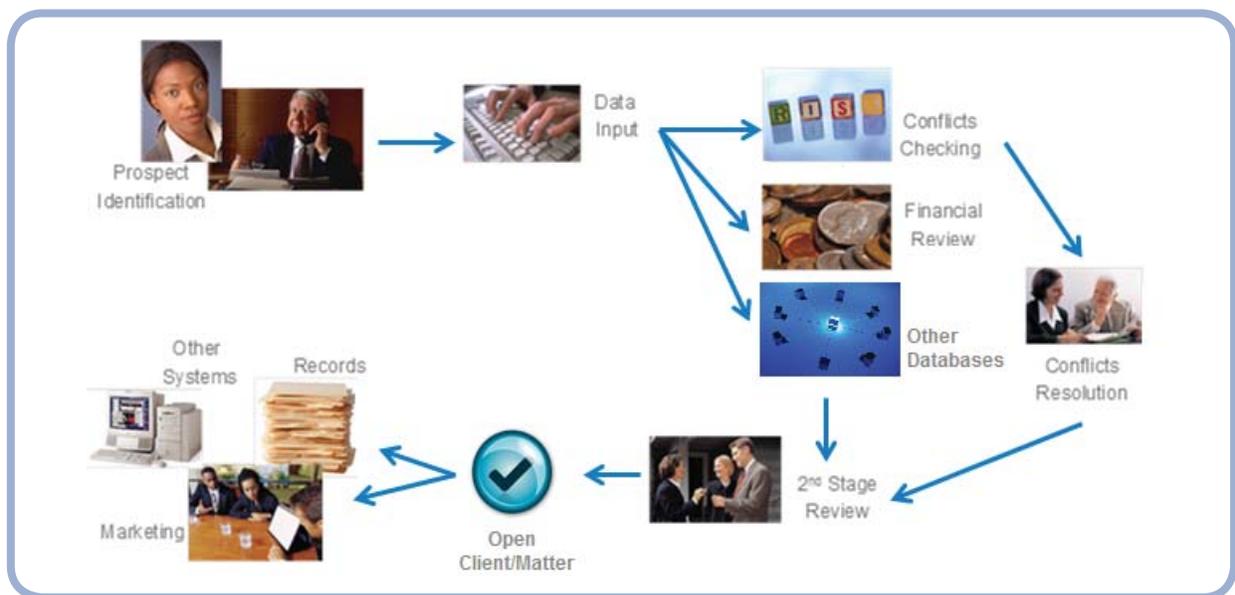

“What do you do...?”

The NBIS encompasses the following major tasks:

- We work with you to identify additional information that would be both useful and feasible for the firm to gather during the client and matter intake process;
- We build the intake forms to collect the critical and appropriate information relating to conflicts of interest and client and matter suitability generally and customize them for each of the firm’s practice areas;
- We review the firm’s existing structure for managing and overseeing client and matter intake, and consider what changes in that structure are desirable and feasible in order to enhance the firm’s client and matter selection process;
- We work with you to determine the appropriate workflows and approval structures and mechanisms for identifying and resolving conflicts of interest and client and matter suitability questions;
- We develop the reports and workflow processes that will best enable you to oversee and manage the new client and matter intake process;
- We test and deploy the custom designed platform and help train your key staff members and in-house trainers to facilitate the roll-out, deployment and implementation of the NBIS.

“What is considered to be within the scope of new business intake/conflicts platform?”

We consider client prospect identification through matter opening to be within the scope of our engagements, as depicted below.

“How can your services and automation platform help us?”
