

Justyna Regan Moderates Panel on US-Canada Trade Tensions and Implications for Polish Exporters

Polish Investment & Trade Agency Business Forum

Event

Nov 6, 2025

Warsaw, Poland

Chicago-based partner Justyna Regan will moderate a panel entitled “Trade Tensions Between the US and Canada – An Opportunity or Threat for Polish Exporters,” at the Polish Investment & Trade Agency (PAIH) Business Forum on November 6, 2025, in Warsaw, Poland.

The discussion will examine how recent trade tensions between the United States and Canada are influencing the evolution of North American economic relations. For Polish exporters, these developments present both potential risks and strategic opportunities. The panel will analyze current customs barriers, regulatory changes, and emerging market gaps that could offer avenues for growth. Experts will also share insights on how Polish companies can strategically position their products in the evolving trade landscape.

The PAIH Business Forum is designed for small and medium-sized enterprises, their partners, including regional representatives, and development institutions. The event provides a platform for entrepreneurs to expand into international markets and navigate new business opportunities abroad.
