Directions

Hinshaw's Cleveland office attorneys, located in the Shaker Heights neighborhood, advise clients on consumer financial services, commercial litigation, and transactional matters, providing national representation to financial institutions and corporations, serving as both special and local counsel. In Ohio's highly regulated environment for financial institutions and lenders, our team closely tracks regulatory developments, litigation trends, and emerging legislation that may affect our clients' operations, enabling us to deliver proactive, business-focused guidance across the financial services industry.
