Hinshaw partner Ian Wagreich authored a chapter in the newly released 2026 edition of the Illinois Institute for Continuing Legal Education (IICLE) “Immigration Law” handbook.

Ian’s chapter, “Service Center Processing: US Applications,” offers insights on the US Citizenship and Immigration Services’ premium processing and expedited services, online filing, requests, notices, and more.

IICLE, the leading provider of continuing legal education in Illinois since 1961, publishes resources designed to support and educate Illinois attorneys on the latest developments in the legal profession.

About the Handbook

This comprehensive handbook equips attorneys with the tools and insights needed to address today’s most pressing immigration law challenges. It details the requirements for successfully petitioning for B, F, J-1, E, L-1, H-1B, TN, H-2B, O, and P visa categories, as well as other immigration routes such as family-sponsored immigration, employment-based permanent resident petitions, and obtaining permanent residence through the Diversity Immigrant Visa program.

The handbook also addresses the processing of visa applications, naturalization and citizenship applications, and employment eligibility and workplace enforcement, including immigration raids.
