Hinshaw partner Justin Penn will present at an Association of Credit and Collection Professionals (ACA) Huddle webinar, “Signed, Sealed ... Coerced? Understanding Coerced Debt,” on June 17.

As regulators and legislators increasingly focus on financial abuse, it’s important to understand how coerced debt differs from traditional identity theft and what it may mean for various organizations’ processes.

During this session, Justin and his panel will discuss

- Key warning signs associated with coerced debt
- The types of consumers and debts most commonly impacted
- Evolving state laws and regulatory requirements
- Practical strategies for responding to consumer claims involving coercion, abuse, identity theft, or lack of consent

The Huddle is accessible for ACA members only.
