

CCPA Revised Regulations Enforcement Date Unaffected by the California Chamber of Commerce Appeal

Privacy, Cyber & AI Decoded Alert | 1 min read

Feb 28, 2024

California's Third District Court of Appeal supported the California Privacy Protection Agency (CCPA) and California Attorney General Rob Bonta in the case of California Privacy Protection Agency (CPPA) v. Superior Court (California Chamber of Commerce) and allowed the California regulators to enforce the revised CCPA regulations as of July 1, 2023, reversing the later March 29, 2024, effective date imposed by the lower court.

On February 20, 2024, the California Chamber of Commerce appealed the Third District Court of Appeal's decision to the Supreme Court of the State of California. However, the requested relief for the appeal is to depublish the decision, which will not change the effective date of the revised regulations from July 1, 2023. Depublishing would mean the reasoning of the case cannot be relied upon as precedent.

What Should Businesses be Doing as Part of their CCPA Compliance Now?

Businesses covered by the CCPA should comply with revised regulatory requirements immediately, as the California Attorney General and the CPPA are actively enforcing the regulations already.

Please see our earlier Privacy, Cyber, & AI Decoded Alert for more CCPA compliance recommendations.

Law clerk Sabrina Messar contributed to this post. She is not currently admitted to practice law.

Related People

Cathy Mulrow-Peattie

Partner

📞 212-655-3875

Jason J. Oliveri

Partner

📞 212-471-6237

Related Capabilities

Data Privacy, AI & Cybersecurity