Hinshaw & Culbertson LLP is pleased to announce that partner Jennifer Driscoll has been reappointed to serve on the Connecticut Bar Association's (CBA) Antitrust and Trade Regulation Section Executive Committee for the 2026-2027 term. Jennifer has served on the Committee since 2024.

According to the CBA, the Antitrust and Trade Regulation Section aims to familiarize members with all aspects of state and federal antitrust and trade regulation law. The Section provides educational programming, networking opportunities, and industry-focused events that help members deepen their knowledge while building connections within the antitrust and trade regulation community.

As a member of the Executive Committee, Jennifer helps guide the Section's strategic priorities and initiatives. Her responsibilities include establishing annual objectives, supporting membership growth and engagement, assisting with the development of programs and events, and advancing efforts to enhance members' understanding of state and federal antitrust and trade regulation law.
