Directions

Hinshaw's New Orleans office is rooted in one of the nation's most unique legal, cultural, and economic markets, providing access to the commercial hub for the Gulf South, with strategic proximity to the energy and maritime industries along the Mississippi River and Gulf Coast, healthcare, finance, and real estate sectors expanding across Louisiana and neighboring states, and the Port of New Orleans, a major international trade gateway. Our New Orleans team is nationally recognized for providing litigation, appellate, regulatory, and transactional counsel to clients across a wide array of industries, with a particular focus on financial services, insurance, construction, maritime, oil and gas, renewable energy, professional services, and real estate.
