About Megan

Megan represents mortgage lenders and mortgage servicers in consumer financial litigation involving contested foreclosures, contested evictions, the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act (RESPA), Fair Debt Collection Practices Act (FDCPA), Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA), and other federal and state consumer protection statutes. She also represents clients in real estate disputes including quiet title actions, code enforcement litigation, municipal tax sales and redemptions, and condominium lien matters.

Megan also has experience handling insurance services matters involving general liability, personal injury, and auto claims.

Prior to joining Hinshaw, Megan practiced at a mid-size law firm in Boston where she handled medical malpractice and long-term care liability matters.

Before embarking on her legal career, Megan was a senior-level finance operations business analyst for a regional health insurance company and an underwriter for a national property-casualty insurance carrier.
