About Ori

Ori is a seasoned insurance coverage attorney who counsels clients in commercial general liability and first-party property matters. He also represents insurers in federal and state courts and regularly provides coverage opinions and pre-litigation advice.

Ori has significant experience analyzing insurance policies and drafting coverage opinions, position letters, and related motions. In addition to his trial work, including delivering oral and written arguments, Ori has negotiated pre-trial discovery disputes and settlements with opposing counsel. Ori is also well-versed in managing large-scale document production for complex litigation.

Ori graduated in the top third of his class from George Washington University Law School, where he interned with the Washington, DC, Attorney General's Office, the US Federal Trade Commission, and the US Securities and Exchange Commission.
