About Giselle

Giselle represents clients in general liability defense, including personal injury, wrongful death, property damage, and product liability matters. She also advises on risk management strategies, assisting clients in mitigating exposure and resolving disputes before litigation arises.

As a first-generation Cuban American, Giselle understands that hard work and perseverance are key to achieving success. These values continue to drive her dedication to her clients and her practice. Her passion for advocacy began in law school, where she mentored first year law students and volunteered as a Guardian Ad Litem, giving a voice to children in need.
