

Patrick Patras Quoted by Wired.com on Google's Ongoing Android Patent Litigation

In The News | less than 1 min read

Dec 22, 2011

Intellectual Property Partner and patent attorney Patrick L. Patras, was quoted in the article, “Can 17,000 Patents Help Android Win a Legal Cold War?” The article appeared on Wired.com on December 22, 2011. The article covers the ongoing Google/Android patent litigation.

Mr. Patras devotes his practice to intellectual property law, with particular emphasis on patent litigation. He has extensive experience in all aspects of patent litigation and has tried patent infringement cases in federal court, as well as in the arbitration setting.

Hinshaw & Culbertson LLP is a U.S.-based law firm with offices nationwide. The firm's national reputation spans the insurance industry, the financial services sector, professional services, and other highly regulated industries. Hinshaw provides holistic legal solutions—from litigation and dispute resolution, and business advisory and transactional services, to regulatory compliance—for clients of all sizes. Visit www.hinshawlaw.com for more information and follow @Hinshaw on LinkedIn and X.

Related Capabilities

Intellectual Property