Chicago — Daniel A. Trevino, a partner in the Chicago office of Hinshaw & Culbertson LLP, was one of ten attorneys in the United States selected for the “Top Lawyers Under 40” Award for 2015 by the Hispanic National Bar Association (HNBA). The award celebrates HNBA members who have demonstrated outstanding professional achievements combined with an exceptional commitment to service, commitment to the Latino community and dedication to improving the legal profession.

Mr. Trevino focuses his litigation practice in the areas of product liability and transportation law where he represents multi-national electronics, automobile parts and fitness equipment manufacturers and distributors. He has successfully defended high exposure cases involving catastrophic injuries and wrongful death throughout his career at Hinshaw & Culbertson LLP.

In addition to being a member of the HNBA, Mr. Trevino is also the President-elect of the Hispanic Lawyer's Association of Illinois (HLAI) and a member of the Chicago Bar Association. His civic involvement is exemplified by his service as a Commissioner of the Illinois Medical District (IMD) appointed by the Mayor of the City of Chicago.

The HNBA will present the 2015 “Top Lawyers Under 40” awards at the 2015 Annual Corporate Counsel Conference in San Antonio, Texas on Thursday, March 19, 2015.
