

Russell Klingaman Discusses Recreational Drone Use Laws and Regulations With Consumers Digest

In The News | 1 min read

Aug 25, 2016

Russell A. Klingaman, a partner in the Milwaukee office of Hinshaw & Culbertson LLP, was quoted in the article, “Recreational Drones: Out of Control: New Safety & Privacy Laws Are on the Horizon,” published by Consumers Digest.

The article focuses on the growing popularity of recreational drones and the evolving legal landscape involving them. Mr. Klingaman provides his insights into possible future Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) regulations involving tracking, geofencing and certification.

Mr. Klingaman — a leader of Hinshaw’s Aviation Law Practice — helps members of the business and aviation communities manage and deal with their legal matters. His strengths include resolving disputes, reducing risks and leveraging opportunities. As a licensed pilot and aircraft owner, he has unique insights in aviation-related legal matters including products liability, pilot errors, mechanical problems, Federal Aviation Administration enforcement actions, transactions and many others. Mr. Klingaman also helps clients protect their intellectual property — including copyrights, patents, trade secrets and trademarks.

Hinshaw & Culbertson LLP is a U.S.-based law firm with offices nationwide. The firm’s national reputation spans the insurance industry, the financial services sector, professional services, and other highly regulated industries. Hinshaw provides holistic legal solutions—from litigation and dispute resolution, and business advisory and transactional services, to regulatory compliance—for clients of all sizes. Visit www.hinshawlaw.com for more information and follow @Hinshaw on LinkedIn and X.

Related Capabilities

Aviation & Aerospace

Related Locations

Milwaukee