In his most recent New York Law Journal Professional Responsibility column, Anthony Davis addresses the use of virtual law offices in New York. Davis returns to this “vexing problem” in light of Formal Opinion 2019-2 “Use of a Virtual Law Office by New York Attorneys,” issued by the New York City Bar Association’s Committee on Professional Ethics. Davis has discussed this topic in numerous forums, including these columns: “In-State Office Requirement: Gap Between Theory and Reality” and “Tales of Woe: An Update on Two Disturbing Issues.”
